PMF ENTERPRISES, INC.,

Plaintiff - Appellant,

versus

SOUTHCREST BANK,

Defendant - Appellee.

Appeal from the United States District Court for the Middle District of Georgia

(June 10, 2016)

Before MARTIN, JILL PRYOR and ANDERSON, Circuit Judges.

PER CURIAM:

Appellant PMF Enterprises, Inc. (“PMF”) appeals the district court’s judgment affirming a bankruptcy court order overruling PMF’s objection to a proof of claim filed by Appellee SouthCrest Bank (“SouthCrest”). After carefully reviewing the record and the parties’ briefs, we affirm the district court’s judgment based on the district court’s well-reasoned order filed on June 1, 2015.¹

AFFIRMED.

¹ SouthCrest also raises a challenge to our jurisdiction to hear PMF’s appeal. We have recognized that our jurisdiction “in bankruptcy proceedings is limited to final decisions of the district court.” Guy v. Dzikowski (In re Atlas), 210 F.3d 1305, 1307 (11th Cir. 2000); see 28 U.S.C. § 158(d). Because “[a] bankruptcy involves an aggregation of individual controversies,” an order in a bankruptcy case “may be immediately appealed if [it] finally dispose[s] of discrete disputes within the larger case.” Bullard v. Blue Hills Bank, 135 S. Ct. 1686, 1692 (2015). We conclude that the bankruptcy court’s order overruling PMF’s objection was a final decision. It, in effect, allowed SouthCrest’s proof of claim in the amount filed and left no unresolved dispute about the merits of SouthCrest’s claim. See, e.g., Linton v. Grow, 183 B.R. 838, 839 (S.D. Ind. 1995) (recognizing that order overruling objection to claim “resolved the issue of whether [the] claim was accepted” and thus “was a final appealable order”); Allen v. Geneva Steel Co. (In re Geneva Steel Co.), 260 B.R. 517 (B.A.P. 10th Cir. 2001) (“An order on an objection to a claim is a final order . . .”).
